

The image shows a hand-drawn wireframe of a web page for recipes. On the left side, there are three horizontal lines representing a list of items. In the center, there is a large rectangular box with a diagonal cross through it, containing the text "probably some images here". To the right of this box, there is another rectangular area containing the text "probably some txts will be here". Below this text, there are two more rectangular boxes stacked vertically; the top one contains the text "Show recipes with pictures" and the bottom one contains the text "Search recipes". The entire sketch is enclosed in a simple black border.
